Smithsonian Crossroads Exhibition Volunteers Needed

Interested in your community’s history? Like talking to people? Like looking at old artifacts, photographs and letters? Then join the Blue Ridge Mountains Arts Association as a volunteer during the Smithsonian Crossroads exhibition from April 25 through June 6, 2020. Volunteer hours are Tuesday through Sunday, 10:30am to 5:30pm.

Volunteers will be needed to greet visitors, give a short history of the Art Center, direct visitors to the various exhibits, interact with visitors regarding the exhibits, ask visitors to sign the guest register and complete a survey of the Crossroads exhibit. Volunteer training will be provided at the Art Center on April 23rd (time to be announced later) by Dr. Ann McCleary, Director of the Center for Public History at University of West Georgia. During the training, volunteers will be given an overview of Crossroads, related programs, and Art Center history. A Crossroads docent handbook will also be provided. Confirmation email will be sent to all volunteers prior to training.

There are several ways to let us know you’d like to volunteer:

- (1) Complete the form below and email to BlueRidgeArts.Crossroads@gmail.com
- (2) Stop in at the Art Center and let us know (420 W Main St, Blue Ridge)
